(57)Abstract:

SOLUTION: Whether or not a printer driver to be installed is for a plug-and-play corresponding printer connected to the two-way communication interface of a computer is displayed so as to be selected (S201). Then, when the install of the printer driver for the plug-and-play corresponding printer is selected, the printer driver is installed based on information for specifying the printer acquired through the two-way communication interface (S205, S207), and when a printer driver for non-plug-and-play is selected, the list of desired printer drivers is displayed so as to be selected, and the selected printer driver is installed (S209, S207). A driver other than the printer driver may be installed in the computer.
